Money Not in Bank.

Secretary Yoder also charges that at a meeting of the officers of the company, held in August last, Treasurer Cave represented that the company had on deposit at the Columbia National Bank between $4,000 and $5,000, and on deposit in the Washington Loan and Trust Company about $1,600.

The secretary states that preceding this meeting, accompanied by President Vermilya, he visited both banks, and found that the company had $410 in the first named and $16 in the latter. When con-

Another charge made against the treasurer is that from February 12, 1904, to October 19, 1905, he entered on the books of the company $100 per month as paid re to the directors for attendance at meetings, while, as a matter of fact, but $20 and $25 per month was paid to directors

It is also charged that the treasurer pays himself $50 per week as salary, notwithstanding that the officials of the company authorize the payment of but $35 per week salary to him. Secretary Yoder also charges that

Treasurer Cave and Assistant Secretary Caton have conspired and confederated together for the purpose of conducting the affairs of the company independent of the secretary and President Vermilya. It is charged that Caton is under the domination and control of Cave. Caton has signed checks of the company in blank in his capacity as assistant secre tary, declares Yoder, checks which Cave filled in for large amounts. The court is asked to appoint a receiver to manage the affairs of the co pany, to require Treasurer Cave to ac-count fully for all matters complained of in Secretary Yoder's bill, and to restrain Cave from interfering with the officers or receiver appointed pending final determination of the suit.
